It's new! It's practical! It's an ornament to any home! It's the KATFETERIA, folks, the cat-feeder which your pet will go for at meal time. You will admire the faithful detail of the curly fur and the wistful expression on the cat's face. The cat and base are of sturdy cast aluminum, (practically unbreakable). Length 10", width 7", height 8". The two food receptacles each hold 10 ozs., and are made of oven-proof glass. Refrigerated food can be heated in them. Each has a glass cover, which provides economy; for unconsumed food and milk can be kept clean and free from dust, for later use. Should you wish to decorate the KATFETERIA in colors of your choice, add 25c to regular price, and we will send the metal parts, primed, ready for painting. No color work is done by us. Price, carefully packed and post paid in the United States, $3.50. Ohio orders must be accompanied by 11c sales tax.

Help for the Congo

I am writing about my cat problem. I hope CATS is an authority on the tropical diseases to which cats are subject. Our cats are usually of the same domestic varieties found in America, though perhaps now and then a little wildcat gets mixed in. I think perhaps they are partly Persian, as they have long hair. But here is my problem: A great percentage of our cats die while they are still kittens. They have a watery substance running out of their mouth, and occasionally from the rectum as well. They become very weak, especially in the hind quarters. Usually they seem to be in pain. They finally die at the end of a choking spell. We think perhaps it is worms, as everything and everybody has worms out here (Middle of the Congo). But maybe it is something else. At any rate, we would like to know if there is something we could do for them. If you could offer any suggestions we would appreciate it. Perhaps you could send us some medicine. I am sending this letter by airmail. I do hope CATS can help me before I lose my current cat of whom I am very fond. He is not sick—yet!

This may be an old story, but in case it is not, I will pass it on. Our cats and rabbits had a nasty itch all over their bodies. We cured it by applications of lard (1 cup) mixed with kerosene (2 table-spoons).

Your article (March 1948) about Cicely Mellor was most interesting to all Brooklyn readers as well as all other readers, I'm sure. I would say Miss Mellor is remarkable, her business is a thriving one, and her interest in cats plus her persuasive personality make her one in a million.

On Teaching Cats

I note with great interest the article in the March issue by D. Reinke on teaching a cat. I claim they will respond quicker and better to praise and petting than to a tempting morsel of food.

I adopted Sue at about eight weeks of age and soon afterward started training her by lifting her right paw and shaking it very frequently when I found her in a sitting or standing position. At the same time I would say, "Shake!" over and over. Also at times I would say, "Miaow—speak" several times in succession. Very soon I noticed that Sue would slightly lift her right paw on some occasions when I would approach her. So I tried her out by sitting her on a chair before me and I commanded "Shake!" and up came her paw for a shake. I then commanded, "Speak!" and she opened her mouth and let out a loud "miaow." I always pet her and say "Smart Cat!" and she bristles all over and struts around in proud fashion. She is now over five years old and still does her stunts and all I have to do is say "Smart Cat!" a few times and she will jump up on a chair and sit in readiness to shake and speak. I have never given her any food in recompense for her tricks; only petting and praise.

She has other tricks like retrieving a ball and sitting astride the arm of a chair (see cut). She seems to enjoy being photographed.

You may want to tell your readers about making with scissors a ball about one inch diameter out of fine sponge rubber. Obtain sponge intended for bath use. It proves best for retrieving. Put it away after the cat has retrieved it a few times and becomes tired. Do not leave it around for a regular plaything as the cat will then play with it and forget about retrieving.

Suggest Longer Reports

We enjoy CATS very much but would like to make the following suggestions: When listing the shows and show dates for next season, why not name the judge also? I have heard many breeders suggest this. Why not publish a more complete record of the winnings of the shows? Why not include best color and best opposite sex of color wins in the report? Not all breeds can be the Bests, yet we would be interested in the wins of the colors that each breeder raises.

Help for Hawaii

I would like to hear more about the "Blue Chinchilla." It sounds heavenly! How would one attain such a cat? Would it be by cross breeding Chinchilla and light Blues? Perhaps some of your readers could enlighten me. I would like to take this opportunity to inform you that I thoroughly enjoy CATS and will never be without it. It has proved itself most valuable, especially the articles by Dr. L. H. Fairchild. Here in Hawaii with our year-long warm climate, the cats are more susceptible to skin diseases than cats raised in a cooler climate. Therefore I was very eager to read an authority on that particular subject. Dr. Fairchild filled the bill so expertly.

Hard Water Trouble

I have a white angora which was brought over here to Germany from Paris, France. When he was given to me he was exceedingly dirty and I gave him a bath, which was a fatal mistake due to the extremely hard water here, consequently he has developed the worst case of fur balls possible. Also other places on his body the fur is falling away. Can you give me any suggestions as to how to get the fur balls off and what to put on his skin to make the fur grow again? To cut the fur balls off sounds very simple, but it is something else again to do, I discovered.

Cats to Europe "Gag" Runs Its Course

The "Cats to Europe" nonsense which received considerable publicity last February and which caused much anxiety among CATS readers and many others, has run its course. This was only a clever publicity "gag," which we are sorry to report, the press and radio fell for in a big way. CATS did not bother to devote any space to this project, since there was certainly nothing to recommend it. Too bad cat lovers are given such shocks.

Surveys Requested

If you have received a cat owner survey and have not returned it, will you do so immediately. It is needed for a very important study.

Among the patients cared for at The Ellin Prince Speyer Hospital for Animals, New York City during 1947, one cat had a hangover from drinking too much egg nog, while another would eat only after hearing a tune played on a harmonica. The Hospital cared for 20,909 sick or injured animals last year.

Humphrey Bogart Adds Pair of Cats to Family

Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall have acquired a pair of cats to add to their Benedict Canyon menagerie which already includes a boxer dog, a half dozen ducks and a lot of chickens. The Bogarts have named the cats "Slim" and "Hank" after their character names in "To Have and Have Not," the picture which introduced Miss Bacall to the screen and Bogart and Miss Bacall to each other.

They are currently appearing together in "Key Largo," at Warner Brothers, their fourth picture.

RABIES IS NO RARITY WITH CATS, RECORDS REVEAL

by RITA SWENSON

Lack of knowledge can prove a dangerous weapon, especially when such lack is manifested in a communication designed for reader consumption and influence, and which uses for ammunition not facts, but skepticism directed at a so-called non-existent cat disease. Just as abdominal surgery was the target of scornful attacks at its inception, and psychoanalysis an object of ridicule before it was accepted by the public, so today medical science is again confronted with an attack on one of its discoveries, the protective inoculation against one of the lesser-known cat diseases, hydrophobia.

Since facts are so easily accessible on both preventative and prevalence, it is doubly amazing that such an attack, obviously based on a wealth of misinformation, has been brought forth with such uncompromising conviction.

In the February issue of CATS, Mr. Truman Pierson, writing on rabies, challenged me to bring on my proofs that this disease exists in cats. This I propose to do, but first I should like to express my complete bewilderment that such a condemnation should spring from an article no more designed to scare than any other article presenting "new" material. Because rabies is not as common as enteritis or distemper, does that mean it must be spoken about in whispers? Because vaccine is the only known preventative, should the subject be taboo? Because, when an epidemic strikes, it is only the free-running alley cat that is exposed, should the matter be shrugged aside as of comparative unimportance?

According to the charts of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, forwarded to me by L. T. Giltner, Acting in Charge, Pathological Division, there were 207 positive cases of rabies in cats in the U. S. in 1938. In 1939, there were 268 cases, in 1940, 260; in 1941, 294; in 1942, 250; in 1943, 316; in 1944, 419; in 1945, 466, and in 1946, 455 cases. States suffering the heaviest 1946 outbreaks (cats) were: Georgia, 76 cases; Texas, 64; Alabama, 36, and California, 30.

It is noteworthy that the northwestern part of the U. S. is virtually free of rabies in ANY animal, while the southern and mid-western states continue to report outbreaks. Incidence of rabies in cats naturally cannot compare with rabies in dogs, but it is significant that since 1938 the number of positive cases has more than doubled, while that in dogs, though fluctuating, has remained about the same. 1947 figures are not available at this time, but are being compiled by the Bureau of Animal Industry from reports of the livestock sanitary official and health officer in each state.

Rabies cases in this country are definitely increasing. In an effort to participate in a control program on a national scale, Bill HR 3289 was introduced in the House of Representatives, amending certain Acts under which the Bureau operates, to include within their provisions, dogs and OTHER DOMESTIC CARNIVORA. The committee on rabies wholeheartedly endorsed the report of the special committee of the A.V.M.A., referring particularly to a meeting of special representatives to draw up definite plans.

Without the kind cooperation of the eminent Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Ass'n., it would be impossible to bring you the results of this meeting. As it is, I have in my possession that part of the Nov. 22, 1947 Journal devoted to this subject. Since the report is too lengthy to reprint here, only such portions that should prove interesting to the Cat Fancy will be touched upon.

The Conference unanimously agreed that in a rabies control program it is desirable for the federal government to participate, co-operating with the several states by contributing funds and personnel. Further, such program shall include "adequate diagnostic facilities," "control of animals (dogs, cats, and wild life) capable of transmitting the disease," and "mass immunization of susceptible animals, especially dogs." The Conference agreed also that, "an educational program should be launched by appropriate authorization, representing federal, state and local agencies, to explain the necessity of control measures, including the efficacy of the rabies vaccines now approved by the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry and the National Institute of Health."

Those taking part in the Conference, held at the University of Pennsylvania, April 9, 1947 were representatives of the following, headed by Dr. R. A. Kelser: American Public Health Ass'n., American Medical Ass'n., U. S. Public Health Service, Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Livestock Sanitary Ass'n., American Animal Hospital Ass'n., and American Veterinary Medical Ass'n.

A name familiar to all in the East, and possibly to those living in other sections of the country as well, is Irwin Schroeder, D.V.M., Chief of Staff, Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, Boston, Mass. Dr. Schroeder recently answered a few questions based on his years of medical experience. Here they are:

Q. Are cats subject to rabies?

A. Yes, cats are susceptible to rabies as are all warm blooded animals.

Q. Have you ever treated a case of rabies in dogs? Cats?

A. The answer would, of course, be no. Once an animal shows symptoms of rabies, there is no known treatment of any value. Once a case is recognized as rabies, the animal invariably succumbs to the disease within a period of seven to fourteen days. (this proves that there is no "serum shooting" in connection with rabies. R.S.)

Q. Do you consider prophylactic inoculation an effective means of protecting animals in infected areas?

A. Yes, this is one of the recognized preventative measures taken in areas where there is an outbreak of rabies. All recognized Boards of Health throughout the U. S. and Canada include inoculation, with other measures of prevention when there is an outbreak.

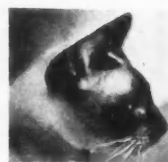

Another progressive veterinarian, Dr. H. F. McDonald of Utica, N. Y., addressing the Mohawk Cat Club (April 1947) on cat diseases, briefly outlined each disease a cat is subject to. His list included—rabies!

It was my intention to include with this material excerpts of letters received from various individuals. However, I think the above is sufficient proof for even the most skeptical that rabies IS a cat's disease and that vaccine IS the only known preventative in an infected area (aside from keeping the animal under lock and key).

I cannot pretend to understand why Mr. Pierson is so strongly against serums since he did not clarify his remarks. Consequently they have to be accepted at face value. But classing the medical profession as "serum shooters," is ridiculous. Many of our foremost breeders do their own "serum shooting," and to condemn one group is to condemn the other.

In closing, I wish to go on record as approving wholeheartedly not only of serums, but of the men who shoot them. High walls may keep out rabies, but no wall is high enough to keep enteritis out. And what is the answer when enteritis strikes? SERUM.

CLAIRE WALLACE, CANADA'S ACE RADIO COMMENTATOR HAD A PERSIAN THAT BECAME DARLING OF THE DOMINION

Almost any time Canadian radio listeners tune their dials to Toronto's Claire Wallace and her "They Tell Me" program, they are likely to hear a cat. Or a horse or deer, an eagle or some other animal, bird or reptile—but more probably a cat.

One of Canada's top-ranking radio commentators, with her own nationally broadcast program, Miss Wallace is a lover of cats. Her Toronto home is never without one or more, usually Persians, and in her more than ten years of broadcasting she has often introduced the pets to her millions of listeners. Furthermore they like it, as evidenced by the flood of mail which descends on the "They Tell Me" office staff whenever a new cat story "breaks." In January, the Story of CATS MAGAZINE was the subject of a broadcast.

At present two six-month-old brothers, George and Sam, dominate the Wallace household. George is blue, lively, intensely curious and highly intelligent; brother Sam is the quiet type, content to display his black beauty as a foil for George's lively caperings. The pair were given to Miss Wallace by Margot Wilson, noted Canadian animal artist, who describes them as "practically" Persian. Apparently some slight tinge of doubt about their ancestry requires the qualification.

George and Sam are successors in Claire's affections to Pussy Willow, a silver-blue Persian which became overnight a radio personality almost overshadowing its owner. When Miss Wallace travels her welcomers sometimes still ask first for Pussy Willow. It happened like this.

A former newspaperwoman in Canada and England, Claire Wallace applies her news training to radio work, specializing in the "story behind the story," written and told in a breezy, heart-warming style which she has made famous.

A couple of years ago Claire broke her knee-cap and was confined to her home while the injury mended. Her room was wired so that broadcasts could go on uninterrupted, and one day she chose to let her kitten sign-off for her. The kitten failed to cooperate; no kittenish meow would he give, and Claire had to apologize to her listening audience. She overcame the difficulty next day by dangling a piece of liver near its nose but in the meantime hundreds of letters poured in giving advice as to how to make the kitten talk.

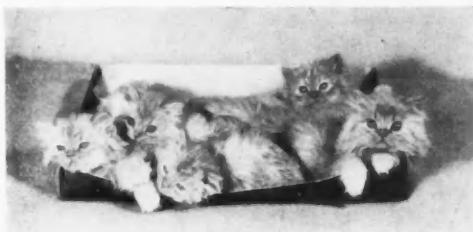

So great was the interest and so many people enquired for the cat's name that a contest was staged to choose a name. Pussy Willow was christened by popular vote. Within succeeding weeks he easily became Canada's most famous cat. He was on the air for three weeks, replies to his heavy fan-mail with a photographic portrait autographed with a paw print.

Miss Wallace receives hundreds of invitations each year for personal appearances as guest of honor or guest speaker at functions ranging from club luncheons to fall fairs. Pussy Willow was soon sharing her invitations. Bradford, Ont., invited Claire and kitten to its annual ice carnival—one of several similar invitations—and sent a set of four handmade ice skates, miniature skis and ski poles, and a hand-knit sweater so that Pussy Willow would feel at home among the snow beauties. A brass band and a chauffeur-driven automobile were ready to greet the kitten on arrival. Huntsville, Ont., exchanged correspondence via the town mayor speaking on behalf of Huntsville's cat population in pressing its invitation.

Program listeners sent in gifts, including

In Niagara Falls, N. Y., the AP reports that a man told Mrs. Edward Lugora he would "turn her in" unless she bought a $5 license for her cat. He fled from her door while she was telephoning police, who assured her that cats do not require licenses.

Ever hear of a cat held for ransom? At Stratford, N. J., Alonzo Smith is holding one stray cat for $8.65, he has notified the borough council. The sum represents the cost of feeding the cat each day—5 cents.

Mrs. Lucille A. Purnell, well known breeder-exhibitor and proprietor of Rosebank Cattery, has announced moving to her new home at 903 Brown Chapel Road, St. Cloud, Florida. Mrs. Purnell completed the transfer April 1. She formerly resided at Salisbury, Maryland.

According to Screen Guide Ethel Barrymore broke a long-standing rule against seeing her own films when she viewed "Night Song." She said she just wanted to see her cat's acting debut!

CAT TAILS

by Billie Bancroft

Thanks again for all the Cat Tales you are sending me. Given time—we will use most of them in this column. One more favor I beg you. Please write your stories. Do not telephone. You have just as good a chance of having your story printed by writing. In the last ten days I have had calls from Tucson, Arizona; Washington, D. C.; Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Carrio Springs, Dimmit County, Texas. The connections were not always good. Again, I ask you—please write.

There is in the making—an artiste of high tantrum quality—so writes Mrs. Leslie Wallace, London S. W., England. It seems that the pet in her home, a large Persian named Menelink, staged a felis domestica strike and took to the trees in bitter resentment against the high cost of mouse-souffle. This belligerent mouse-hund, (who holds top honors as a big game ratter as well as moles, chipmunks, etc., walked off the job one Monday morning and climbed a tree. He refused to come down. (Probably wanted a new contract calling for longer concert hours on the back fence and fewer alarm clocks and old shoes.) Mrs. Wallace called the fire department, the police department—they were not sympathetic. Finally a gang of teenagers happened along—by pyramiding and monkey climbing—they reached Menelink and brought him down to earth ending his one-cat revolution. He was then given a large saucer of cream which eliminated his anti-socialism.

With all this talk about better mouse-traps, it's no wonder Menelink had his back up.

Did you know that CATS MAGAZINE is going continental in a big way—? I have had several letters from Europe telling me that members of various clubs were taking our magazine to their meetings and shows. It seems everyone wants to read CATS MAGAZINE. One breeder in the Notts and Derby Cat Club Show at Nottingham, had four requests to borrow her copy—THAT, my friends, is what you might call from hand to mouth publicity.

You have probably heard of the State of Ohio—where so many blue ribbon Persians and the Robert Tafts live—?—Well, in the town of Delaware there live Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wells, 161 North Union Street. Among their top ranking champions is Prince Charming who has staked a claim on Mr. Wells as his personal property. The Prince will climb into Mr. Wells' arms—placing his front paws around his neck and pull his head down to kiss his bald spot—after that he will look around in a very supercilious manner as if to say—SO WHAT—I have a chattel mortgage on him.

Out Chicago way, that popular man-about-town, Ralph Mangold, takes time off from affaires d'amour to tell me this one. To me it is new, you quite likely have heard it, as it was featured by Riplev. Ralph had a cat named Ginger that loved to eat corn on the cob, believe it or not, Ginger insisted that his corn be buttered!

I've been talking to Wilma Hageman out in old Cheyenne, Wyoming. (Incidentally that gal should be a newspaper woman, she has the apt, dexterous, neat action of turning a phrase.) Wilma tells me that a White Persian named Snowball, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lacy, 620 East 9th Street, Cheyenne, for several years has accompanied the family to Atlanta, Ga., for a visit with relatives. Last summer the visitors were returning to Cheyenne by way of Dallas, Texas. Snowball jumped from the car, which was going sixty miles an hour. The family could not believe he had survived the leap and continued on their way home. On returning to Atlanta for the Christmas holidays, the Lacy's were informed that Snowball had been there looking for them. After a brief visit he disappeared again and was given up for lost a second time. This week

Forty-one show cats have won the title of 1948 All-Eastern in their respective classifications, with the long hair aristocrats, of course, carrying off the most honors. Six states are represented with New York leading the way with 15, followed by Massachusetts with 10; Connecticut with 7; New Jersey with 6; Pennsylvania with 2 and New Hampshire, scoring for the first time with 1.

The selections are made on the basis of performance in exhibitions during 1947-48, by a mathematical system applied to the results. The winning cats therefore, are neither the personal choices of CATS nor the opinions of any one person or group. The listing does not include the results of the Long Island Breeders (CFF), but it is doubtful changes would be necessary.

There are six less cats listed than last season, one factor being that Canadian-owned felines are not included in these rankings. Eleven of the aristocrats repeated their wins of 1947, of which four were 1947 All-American choices.

The Domestic Short Hair, Ch. Aztec's Belinda (AA-47), silver tabby female, owned by Mrs. F. W. Freudenthal of Darien, Conn., is the top-scoring representative in the rankings. This is an unusual surprise. Top ranking male is the cream, Dbl. Ch. Rosegate's Sun Ray, owned by Mrs. Elsie M. Collins of New York, N. Y. These two performers will represent the East for the grand title of All-American Cat of the Year.

STUDIO FAVORITES—Claire Wallace, popular Canadian radio commentator and writer, with an armful of her favorite pets. This pair of Persians are full brothers. George is the blue fellow at the left of Sam. Cats are often included in the Claire Wallace program, "They Tell Me" heard three times weekly coast-to-coast in Canada.

scratching posts, toy animals, catnip-scented novelties and milk. Toronto's dressmakers offered a white tulle dance frock, with cerise sash in asking Pussy Willow to be honored guest at the annual trade ball. Finally Pussy Willow's admirers became so numerous that an entire radio program was given over to the silver-blue pet.

Pussy Willow is now retired. Placed in a country home while Claire was travelling one summer, he developed such a love for country life that he showed little interest in a return to the city. Miss Wallace returned him to his farm home.

A radio veteran now, Claire is still first and foremost a crack news reporter. When she is on the trail of a story no effort is too great to get the facts. She has travelled widely, all over Canada and the United States, to Mexico, the Caribbean and other countries, and flew the Atlantic last November to attend the Royal wedding of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. From London, England she broadcast her stories direct to Canada.

To get factual material she has explored a gold mine 3,000 feet below the ground, has walked the ocean floor in a diving suit, has climbed Rocky Mountain peaks, and learned to fly her own plane. Last fall the Six Nations Indians, largest group of Indians remaining in Canada, made her an honorary princess, an honor given only to leading personalities and rarely accorded a woman. The great names of the world are recorded among her interviewees, as well as the man on the street, who often comes up with good stories for "They Tell Me."

But her most popular individual performer of all time is still Pussy Willow, the silver-blue Persian. And cats will always have a favored place in the Wallace home.

MY CAT SAVED MY LIFE!

LIFESAVER—Mr. S. G. Hamlin of Denver, Colorado is shown with Dee Dee, his famous pet cat, which saved his master's life last January. This picture illustrates how valuable Dee Dee is regarded by his owner. (Photograph for CATS by Martin Seligson)

by S. G. Hamlin, Sr.

Yes, my cat, Dee-Dee saved my life!

He's just a plain cat, but I hope by writing this, it will remind people to be good to their pets. You never know when your pets may be good to you.

The night Dee-Dee saved my life was April 20, 1947. I was at my West Dunkeld Place home here in Denver. After a busy day and feeling quite tired I went to bed. Gertrude, my wife, was visiting friends in California.

Soon I was fast asleep.

Suddenly, I was awakened by Dee-Dee who was pawing at my face. Sometimes he gets too chummy and playful, and I thought this was one of those times. He missed my wife I know, during her stay on the west coast. So I simply pushed Dee-Dee away—I was only half awake.

But Dee-Dee continued to torment me, now pawing and clawing at me in earnest, until I was wide awake. "Go on to bed Dee-Dee. Let me sleep," I said. But the persistent clawing continued. Dee-Dee never acted like this before. So I turned on the bed lamp. The clock showed it was two o'clock.

Then suddenly I was gripped with fear,

Rita Swenson, CAT'S MAGAZINE staff writer, was interviewed March 19 on Radio Station WMNB, North Adams, Mass., by Joyce Merrill. The All-Eastern selections, particularly the outstanding candidates in Massachusetts, was the subject discussed.

because pouring into the room was thick black smoke. In a few seconds the room was completely filled. Since I know every inch of the house I groped about groggily and opened the closet door thinking it was the kitchen door.

I was three-fourths gone, but I managed to open all the windows and the doors and get the smoke out. It was blinding.

Finally, I located the source of the smoke. I had put fresh coal in the kitchen range before retiring, and the draft door had blown open. The upper dampers were closed and the coal was smoldering instead of bursting into flame. Thus, the smoke and coal gas were escaping from every opening in the stove and soon filled my house.

If it had not been for Dee-Dee, I would never have awakened!

Needless to say Dee-Dee can do no wrong. To me he is the greatest pet in the world. If he is hungry he gets fed immediately and if he wants to sleep at the foot of our bed he is welcome there—or anywhere for that matter.

Dee-Dee is going on six years of age. We have had him since his mother presented him to us. Dee-Dee's mother was a great cat too and lived to the ripe old age of 14, and bore a total of 93 kittens, including Dee-Dee!

Never be without a good pet. You may never know when he will save your life.

I am able to write this article today, SOLELY ON ACCOUNT OF THE ACT THIS BELOVED CAT DID FOR ME!

NOTED SILVER MALE DIES IN WEST

At the left is pictured the late Dbl. Ch. Ho Yan of Beverly-Serrano, outstanding silver male, owned by Mrs. Jessie C. Hazlett of Hollywood, Calif. The seven-year-old campaigner was sold to the late Mrs. Olive E. Gilbert of Rochelle Park, N. J. in 1941, but returned to his former owner 18 months ago. He was a grandson of Leo of Allington (Imp.), and gave his sire, Gr. Ch. Duffy of Beverly-Serrano a strong bid for 1947 All-Western and All-American honors.

the big white cat came home. He was found sitting on the Lacy's back porch, a trifle the worse for his journey. Mrs. Lacy has no doubts whatsoever that it is Snowball. He had a lot of markings—such as one ear torn off in a fight while a kitten as well as several other scars and scratches. Right now he is so wild you can hardly go near him and his disposition has not improved with his travels. Now I ask you my friends and fellows of the Fancy—How would you feel after walking eighteen hundred miles—?

Tom-Seal, a product manufactured by Pierpont Products Company, 312 Stuart Street, Boston, Mass., is designed to keep male cats away from females while the latter are in season. Full information can be obtained direct from the manufacturer or checking the advertising in CATS. The company finds its product popular with CATS readers since it recently signed a long-term contract for representation each month.

C.F.A. ANNOUNCES CHALLENGE WINS; 1948-49 SHOW DATES SET

Mrs. J. H. Revington of Bristol, Tenn., captured the CFA Challenge Offer for winner of Best Cat the greatest number of times during the past season with a total of five wins at four 4-point shows, of which three were all-breed and two were specialties. Mrs. Merald Hoag of Arlington, Virginia and Mrs. Walter C. Meyer of Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan deadlocked for Best Cat three times. Mrs. R. H. Hecht of Normandy, Missouri captured the Best Short-Hair offer with six wins, five of them at all-breed shows.

Announcement was made at the annual meeting of The Cat Fanciers' Association, Inc., February 26, in New York, at which the board of officers were reelected for another year.

In the review of the year, it was reported that 29 shows were held during the season of which 20 were all breed events and nine were specialties. Three exhibitions were canceled because of difficulties in securing halls or caging. Four points were granted to 21 of the shows.

The Association closed its year with a membership of 48 clubs, largest in its history, with six of the clubs having been added during the last year. Membership was granted the Kentucky Cat Club of Louisville.

Show dates were approved for the following clubs:

Norfolk Cat Fanciers, Norfolk, Va., Oct. 23-24; North Shore Cat Club, Chicago, Oct. 30-31; Garden State Cat Club, Newark, N. J., Nov. 4-5; Detroit Persian Society, Detroit, Nov. 6-7; Siamese Cat Club of New England, Boston, Nov. 13; Milwaukee Cat Club, Milwaukee, Nov.

13-14; Keystone State Cat Club and National Siamese Cat Club, Philadelphia, Nov. 19-20; Greater St. Louis Cat Club, St. Louis, Nov. 20-21; Cotton States Cat Club, Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 27-28; Empire Cat Club, New York, Dec. 2-3; Cleveland Persian Society, Cleveland, Dec. 4-5; Twin City Cat Fanciers, St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 11-12; Cat Fanciers of Washington, Washington, D. C., Dec. 11-12; California Cat Club, Hollywood, Dec. 11-12; San Diego Cat Fanciers, San Diego, Calif., Jan. 8-9; Golden Gate Cat Club, Oakland, Calif., Jan. 15-16; Honolulu Cat Club, Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 15-16; Angel City Cat Fanciers, Los Angeles, Jan. 22-23; Buffalo Cat Club, Buffalo, Jan. 22-23.

Folio of Unusual Cat Drawings by Cook Ideal for Pet Owners

DRAWING CATS. Breeds, Structure, Anatomy, Poses & Behavior. By Gladys Emerson Cook. 64 pp. New York: Pitman Publishing Corporation. $1.00

Is there a dollar in the house?

If there is, then send it to the Pitman Publishing Corporation in New York City for a copy of Drawing Cats, the unusual 64-page folio presenting the brilliant compositions by Gladys Emerson Cook, foremost artist of things feline today.

Cat owner, picture collector, breeder—novice or advanced—geneticist, all will revel in the creations that Miss Cook has captured to lay across the pages of this splendid folio.

For the average cat owner, Drawing Cats presents your cat in all his quaint poses. There are all kinds of cats, big ones, little ones, Maine Coons, Smokes, Burmese, Short Hairs, Abys—every kind!

Then there are noses, mouths, eyes, heads, ears, paws and figures in all conceivable angles that could only be Cat. Not only are the various breeds shown, but the text accompanying the various studies is excellent.

Many sketches are those of that indomitable pair, Chinnie, the Silver Tabby Short Hair, and Mike, the Blue Point Siamese, that famous duo who owns Hettie Gray Baker, who admits it. In fact, Miss Cook has dedicated Drawing Cats to them. And of course there are several other well known cats, who have, at one time or another, romped across the pages of this publication.

Miss Cook has taken great care with the salient sketches blocking in notes which leave little doubt in your mind that you will be an accomplished artist in no time. Yes, Miss Cook makes that idea a fact, and before you have scanned many pages you will be hunting for paper and pencil, and of course, your own sweet little Skeeex for a model.

And, as we were saying, is there a dollar in the house?

Nine of Eleven AM-48 Cats Win in Show Prove Accuracy of Rankings

Accuracy of the All-Midwestern cat selections is exemplified by the results of the Badger Feline Society's exhibition held at Milwaukee, Wis., March 20-21. Eleven 1948 AM cats competed in the event, and nine of these were judged best in their respective classifications. The AM-48 cats defeated were Grand Champion Dixi-Land's First Lady of Pets Beautiful (AM-48) who lost to her blue eyed white daughter, Pamela; and Firecracker, (AM-48) burmese female, who bowed to a novice (entry first time shown), Laos Exan.

Judge of the show was Mrs. H. Earl Nack of Willow Grove, Pa.
